BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. This act shall be known and may be cited as the Teen Suicide and Violence Prevention Act.

Section 2. The Legislature of Alabama finds and declares the following:

(1) The constant or intermittent harassment, violence, or threats of violence by an individual or individuals against a school student is a serious threat against the mental health of the affected student and may constitute a threat of suicide by the student at the time of the harassment, violence, or threat of violence or become a threat at a later date.

(2) The rate of teenage suicide could be reduced by having a learning environment free of harassment, continued intimidation, violence, and threats of violence. Such actions against any group or class of citizens is unacceptable, and responsible authorities at all levels of government should act to prevent harassment, intimidation, violence, and threats of violence.

(3) The continued harassment of students by other students could lead to catastrophic violence; therefore, it is the intent of the Legislature that every level of government should take all reasonable steps necessary to prevent harassment and threats of harassment of students.

(4) A safe and civil environment in school is necessary in order for students to learn and achieve high academic standards.

(5) Harassment, and threats of violence like other disruptive or violent behaviors, is conduct that disrupts both the ability of the student to learn and the ability of the school to educate its students in a safe environment.

(6) It is essential to implement policies which seek to protect the health and welfare of students and improve the learning environment.

(7) Adolescent suicide occurs without regard to ethnicity, socio-economic status, age, or gender and has a tremendous and traumatic impact on surviving family members.

(8) Suicide is a significant cause of death in the United States, and the health and well-being of our youth is critically important to the public welfare of Alabama.

(9) Attempted suicide is usually a symptom indicating that a person is experiencing stressful or traumatic events that push normal coping strategies to the limit; therefore, it is the intent of the Legislature that appropriate and timely help be made available to Alabama's youth, contingent on state or local funding to local boards of education, in order to improve access and availability of preventive services and to prevent youth suicide and avoid youth suicidal behaviors.
